

CARDINALS DROP MEMBERSHIP IN N.I.A.A. LEAGUE

Meet Wayne and Peru Next Season In Football

ONE CAGE GAME

Omaha University will withdraw from the Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic Association conference next year, according to an announcement made by Coach Sed Hartman and Dr. W. H. Thompson, chairman of the athletic board. The statement was made upon their return from the annual meeting of the North Central Conference, which was held in Chicago last Monday and Tuesday.

Omaha University will play only two teams in the N. I. A. A. conference in football next season, Wayne and Peru. Because they are playing only two games, they will not be eligible for a chance at the crown. The University will only play Wayne in basketball this season.

The University has been outstanding in athletics since they first joined the N. I. A. A. conference five years ago. The school has won the basketball championship for the past three years, and the football championship for the past two years, and this year they were undefeated and untied. Wayne State Teachers' College was the only school in the conference to score upon Omaha University this year, and no school held the Cardinals for less than three touchdowns. This record caused the athletic department to look for stronger competition.

Journalist From Germany Speaks At Club Meeting

Karl Klein, German newspaperman, who came to Omaha two months ago, answered questions of members of the International Relations club concerning the Hitlerite regime in Germany at a regular meeting of the club Wednesday night, December 11, in the Women's Faculty building.

He stated, in general, that National Socialism had been of some benefit to the German people, although he recognized that some injustices had been done.

Klein was introduced by Miss Hildegard Stauss, professor of German. Miss Stauss spoke of her trip to Germany last summer, and translated many of the questions which the club members asked Klein.

Klein was formerly associated with the Dortmund newspaper published in the Ruhr district. He is now employed by the Omaha Daily Tribune. In February he will take over the publication of a German weekly in Buffalo, New York.

HAYNES SPEAKS

President Rowland Haynes is showing the advantages of the Municipal university through his various speaking engagements.

Last Tuesday, December 10, he spoke to the graduating class of Benson high school at 11:15 o'clock. He addressed a noon luncheon of the education committee of the Chamber of Commerce on the "General Program of the University" the same day.

Season Ticket Sale To Begin

Season basketball tickets for students and faculty members go on sale today, according to an announcement made by Coach Sed Hartman. The tickets, which include admission to the seven games to be played in Omaha, can be purchased for one dollar. The sale will close the day of the first home game, Friday, December 20.

Single admission tickets to any of the games will cost forty cents. Persons not associated with the University may buy season tickets for one dollar and fifty cents.

Advocates Plan Of Work-Study

Although additional buildings at the present site of the University of Omaha could increase the school's capacity over 100 per cent, such a project would be a mistake, stated President Rowland Haynes in an address to the members of the faculty, regents and administrative offices assembled at the Women's Faculty banquet Friday evening, December 6.

President Haynes pointed out that improvements at the present location could be made that would be adequate for the next ten years, but that eventually the school will outgrow its quarters and be unable to move because of the large investment in the plant. His topic was "The Municipal University in the Community."

Mr. W. F. Baxter, member of the board of trustees which governed the school before it became a city institution, spoke on "The Making of the Municipal University." He described the struggles of the university since its founding in 1908.

Sorensen, Horejs Take State Exams

Howard Sorensen and Charles Horejs, Omaha University's Rhodes Scholarship candidates, have been notified that they are to be in Lincoln, Saturday, December 14, for the state examination. There they will appear before the state committee, along with other representatives of Nebraska colleges, for final examinations and interviews.

At a later date, the two selected by the state committee will go before the regional committee, where four will be selected to receive Rhodes scholarships. Each region is composed of six states.

ORCHESIS GROUP TO GIVE ANNUAL DANCE PROGRAM

Give Recital Twice For Students and Parents

FEATHERS USHER

The Orchesis group of the women's department of physical education and the Women's Athletic Association will present a dance recital Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, December 17 and 18, at 8:15 o'clock in Jacobs' Hall. The Tuesday performance will be for students and on Wednesday the parents and friends of the Orchesis members are invited to attend.

Betty Fellman will accompany the dancers and Ida Gitlin will sing during the recital. Members of Feathers will usher at both performances. The Orchesis is assisted and directed by Miss Ruth Diamond and Mrs. Harriet Benson.

Thirty-Two Dance

The dancers taking part in the recital are: Marjory Charles, Jane Cook, Elaine Coulter, Frances Dilger, Mildred Garries, Janet Graetz, DeLoris Jarmin, Eloise Johnson, Sue Kemper, Maxine Marrs, Mary Maxwell, Anne Raymond, Helen Saltares, Frances Savage, Esther Silverman, Elsie Stahmer, Lillian Anderson, Helen Holden, Jans Johnston, June Jones, Ruth Lee, Dorothy McGahan, Lois Medlock, Doris Lee Nelson, Gretchen Patterson, Virginette Olson, Jean Richards, Bertha Slutsky, Florence Steinberg, Marjorie Strand, Anita Thomason and Irene Tinkham.

Drama Students Present Second Public Recital

The University's dramatic department, under the direction of Mrs. Jean Jarmin, presented the second in a series of public recitals Thursday evening in the University auditorium.

Two plays were given. The first, "Varnishing Day," a satirical comedy by Frederick J. Pohl, was directed by Bess Greer. The cast of the play included Susan Kemper, Hazel Willard, Mary Owen, Gordon Quiller, Sylvan Frankel, Amy Rohacek and Donald Reisser. Ann Ulrich and Louise Riggs assisted the director.

Hazel Willard directed the second play, "The Slang Cure," by Elgin Warren. In the cast were Louise Riggs, Lois Medlock, Virginette Olsen, Dale Wolf, Jack Pike and Sylvan Frankel. Betty Arnold was assistant director.

Board to Select Yearbook Staff

The Board of Student Publication will elect the staff who will edit the University of Omaha yearbook at a meeting Monday afternoon, December 16. An editor, a business manager, a circulation manager and six associate editors will be chosen at this time.

Applications for staff positions must be turned in to members of the board by noon of Monday, December 16. The selections will be made upon a basis of scholarship and experience.

Barb Dance

The Barbs on the campus will sponsor an all-school dance, The Barbarian Invasion, in Jacobs' Hall tomorrow night. Kenneth Turner, president of the Barb organization, is general chairman of the dance. He is assisted by Ednell Benson, Mary Ann Harrington, Louise Riggs and Jane Vincent.

Julian MacPherson's orchestra will play for the dancing. Tickets at thirty-five cents a couple may be purchased from Kenneth Turner, Mary Ann Harrington and Ednell Benson.

History Students Reorganize Club

Josephine Carroll, '36, was elected president of Omicron chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, national honorary history fraternity which was recently reorganized on the campus, at a meeting Saturday, December 7.

Verner Parrish was chosen vice-president and Bernice Perlmeter secretary-treasurer. Miss Carroll and Miss Perlmeter will represent the chapter at the national convention in Chattanooga, Tenn., December 30-31.

The chapter, which has been inactive since 1933, received into membership Bernice Perlmeter, '36; Josephine Carroll, '36; Vincent Nelson, '36, and Verner Parrish, '37.

Dr. Edgar A. Holt, Mrs. Laura M. Johnson, Miss Mary A. Parker, Central High teachers, and Dr. Lyman Harris, all members of the club, are the faculty sponsors.

Haynes Talks At Faculty Banquet

President Rowland Haynes advocated that some adaptation of the work-study plan, which permits students to work and attend classes alternately, be the next step in Omaha Municipal University developments at a testimonial luncheon given in his honor by the Greater Omaha Association, Wednesday, December 4.

He suggested that some plan be worked out by which students could work approximately ten weeks and then attend classes the following ten weeks. This is a plan similar to that at the Municipal University of Cincinnati, which pioneered the system, and at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio.

In contrasting the municipal universities with the endowed schools in the east Mr. Haynes found that municipal university fees are much less than those of the eastern institutions. Mr. Haynes pointed out that since municipal universities must accept all students that are able to profit by courses offered in them, whereas a private institution may select only the brightest students, better teaching is essential at municipal universities.

President Haynes has stated that he will recommend the establishment of some form of the work-study plan to the board of regents.

"O" CLUB MEETING

A meeting of the University of Omaha Men's "O" club has been called by Howard Sorensen, president, to meet Tuesday, December 17, at 12:30 o'clock in room 3.

OMAHA CAGERS BATTLE WAYNE IN INITIAL TILT

Foe Boasts Strong Team; Rate High In N. I. A. A.

PLAY AT WAYNE

The Omaha University basketball team will play Wayne tonight at Wayne in the first game of the season for both schools.

Wayne State Teachers' College boasts one of the strongest teams in the history of the school, and is rated by all of the schools in the N. I. A. A. conference as one of the top-notch contenders for the conference championship this year. Wayne has seven lettermen returning, and fourteen freshmen of varsity caliber, so they will be seeking a victory over the Cardinals, who have held the basketball championship of the N. I. A. A. conference for the past three years.

The Cardinals have had a powerful offense since the beginning of practice, but the defense has been weak. Coach Baker finally announced that he was pleased with the defense after a scrimmage with the freshmen last Tuesday.

The yearlings took a short lead at the beginning of the scrimmage, but the varsity swamped them in a very short time. The freshmen were greatly outclassed, and the varsity played on both the offense and the defense in mid-season form.

Carl Baade was outstanding for the varsity throughout the scrimmage, and his tip-in shots counted.

Masters To Tell Far West Story At Convocation

Principal J. G. Masters of Central High School, student and historian of pioneer days, will tell the story of John Colter's Discovering the Yellowstone and His Whirlwind Escape from the Blackfoot at a special assembly Wednesday morning, December 18, at 10:00 o'clock in Jacobs' Hall.

According to Mr. Masters, the story is an actual historical occurrence which took place in the very early days of the Far West and is the most thrilling tale in American history. He will use a large detailed map to illustrate the story.

Mr. Masters has made extensive study of the great western trails of the trans-Missouri country. He has compiled a book, Tales and Stories of the Old West, from which the story he will tell at the assembly has been taken.

GERMAN CLUB PARTY

The German club will hold a Christmas party Thursday evening, December 19, in Jacobs' Hall. Frances Savage is general chairman for arrangements of the party. She is assisted by Ray King, Mrs. Leah Glas, Doris Kinsay, June Erickson and Miss Hildegard Stauss, sponsor of the club.

The program will include a German Christmas play and German stories, songs and games. Each of the German classes is to take some part in the program.

YEARBOOK APPLICATIONS

The Board of Student Publications is urging students who are interested in publishing the annual to apply for positions on the staff. The Board is undertaking a difficult task in backing this publication, as it will be the first of its kind since the school was made a municipal institution. Students who have had previous experience in the editing of similar publications, in high school or elsewhere, should offer their services to the Board. With the co-operation of the administration, the faculty, the Board and the student organizations on the campus the success of the yearbook is assured, providing enough students apply for positions to enable the Board to select a capable and interested staff.

ON LEAVING THE N. I. A. A.

Omaha University, in leaving the N. I. A. A. conference, is making another step toward a higher goal. Any step taken by the university toward attaining higher things, is an asset to the school itself. Our school is growing, and will continue to grow as long as we take steps forward.

The student body as well as the athletic board feel that greater competition is needed. The Cardinals have made outstanding records in both football and basketball, and much praise should be given the coaching staff for their ability to organize winning teams.

We leave the N. I. A. A. conference with the friendliest of feelings toward all of the schools which we have played in the past, and praise the sportsmanlike attitude displayed by all.

A BAND COURSE

Dr. Edgar A. Holt, dean of the University, has stated that an accredited band course will be placed in the catalogue for next year if a formal request and a description of the band course is submitted to this office by Mr. Henry Cox and Mr. Martin Bush. Mr. Cox has spent many years organizing and directing college and high school, as well as professional bands. His interest in such a course is assured, and because of Mr. Bush's association with the University's music department it is felt that such a course would meet his approval. In the past there have been many attempts to organize a band for the University. Some have been partially successful. Others have failed, but never for the lack of available material. Members of the University orchestra receive one hour credit per semester for two rehearsals each week. If such a course were initiated into the curriculum for students of band instruments there is no doubt that a well-organized band could be developed within one year. The administration favors the organization of the band, and if enough interest is shown on the part of the student body, a band course will be added to the University curriculum.

There is a new sorority on the campus now, Beta Alpha Gamma....A prof is denying that he paid a lady's fare recently....indeed, he states that it was ice versa....Lehmer is either switching from one sorority to another or just resting....

Poetry seems to be the latest pastime among the intellectuals on the campus....Sorensen has completed twenty stanzas of his verse masterpiece and out of the Phi Deltas comes this ditty:

At last I've succumbed to writing verse;
It could be better, but couldn't be worse.
And when I'm ready for the hearse,
Please bury me without my verse.

ON THE MAGAZINE RACK

Painless Education—Atlantic Monthly
(E. A. Cross)

One of the most critical and yet most candid articles on public education to be found in the current issues of magazines is this one published in the December Atlantic Monthly. Painless Education is written by Dr. E. A. Cross of the Colgate-Rochester divinity school. He complains that one-third of the 875,000 teachers in the United States do not take the profession seriously. Many men use it as a financial stepping-stone to law, medicine, or some other profession or trade. Thousands of girls accept it as an interim job between college graduation and matrimony. Dr. Cross also says that the majority of teachers haven't been properly educated to take the delicate task of shaping young people's minds and lives. Constantly changing methods of education, pressures from parents, and the lack of wise and capable administration all help to bring about this painless education, which does not comprise enough of the great fundamentals of education necessary for a later acquisition of culture.

But what is the remedy? First, parents must not insist upon passing grades for their children unless the children actually learn. Second, only real teachers should be permitted to continue in the profession. Third, society should remove those pressures from the supervisors, principals, superintendents, even college presidents, that keep them dancing around in spirals and making believe that movement in any direction is necessarily progress. And last, let everyone free his mind of the insidious current belief that everything worth while can be attained without work.

This article merits the perusal of both faculty and students.

Art students will find in this same magazine on page 594 some unique religious drawings in ink by Allan Crite. Mr. Crite, who is twenty-five years of age and lives in Boston, is a Negro. As a result of long effort and self-discipline he has perfected his technique and has been acclaimed a real artist by leading critics of the east. "I discovered," he explains, "that by making my characters black they made very effective compositions and helped to give that feeling of strength that I believe should be a main characteristic of religious work...."

"I'VE A FRIEND I'D LIKE YOU GIRLS TO MEET"

Athletic girl: "What can he do?"
Chorus girl: "How much has he?"
Literary girl: "What does he read?"
Society girl: "Who is his family?"
Religious girl: "To what church does he belong?"
College girl: "Where is he?"

American brides and bridegrooms are getting younger. Men are marrying at an average age of 24.8 and women at 21.7. We don't know what this proves. Yes, and statistics show that Vassar graduates have three-quarters of a baby each.

Heredity is an omnibus in which all our ancestors ride, and every now and then one of them puts out his head and embarrasses us.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

You, Me, the Gatepost

By FRAN NELSON

Everybody is yipping about that second story last week. Some of the nicest (?) young ladies have called me some of the naughtiest things and vice-versa. If I had wanted to make up a story I could have made up a better one than that even if the Gateway wouldn't print it. That was the story as it was told to me and the individual that first told the story still sticks to the boat, so until someone wants to bring the real truth into the Gateway office the story still goes. As far as I'm concerned it may have been the young lady that paid Professor Heckman's carfare. Anyway, what is a car slug or two between friends?

clipping from an Omaha Newspaper:

Data for "Dates"

Chicago—Forty coeds and sixty men students at the University of Chicago were registered at the "dating bureau," but the only information listed was the student's name and color of hair. Through the bureau those who register on the "available" list may have "get acquainted" contacts made for them.

Underneath this was written;
"Why, oh why, doesn't this University do this, too?"

Maybe there are more students like this on the campus that would be highly in favor of such an enterprise. There are certain difficulties to overcome in establishing a thing of that sort in a University of this size, but if there are enough of the students interested and willing to give it a trial for a month to see if it is a success, I will offer my own services through the Gateway office to get it under way. If enough of you will put a note in the Gateway box and request such a plan we will try it out; if not, we will drop the whole matter as so many other things out here have been dropped because of various and sundry interests.

In New Book Stack

By LLOYD L. LEE

Students of English literature will be interested to know that there is in the library a new book dealing with the life of John Milton and a criticism of his works.
The book, entitled Milton, is written by Rose Macaulay, the famous English satirical novelist. Miss Macaulay's two outstanding characteristics are those of a gentle cynic and an indulgent recorder of human weakness and folly.
These can be readily discerned in this short biography of 150 pages.
The fact that Miss Macaulay is "regarded as high-brow by flappers and low-brow by intellectuals" in no way detracts from the appreciation of this splendidly written critical biography.

Read how Milton through solitude, hard study, and obscurity acquired an enviable culture, and climbing the ladder of fame rendered a great service to England and the world. Then remember that Longfellow said:

"Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time.

Footprints that perhaps another,
Sailing o'er life's solemn main,
A forlorn and shipwrecked brother,
Seeing, shall take heart again."

Student Uncovers
Art Masterpiece

Advertising, it has been said, brings many returns to an individual. The other day a student was sitting in a criminology class laboriously taking notes, when suddenly his pen stopped and could move no farther. Applying one of the major principles of the noble course, he lifted the paper upon which he was writing to get at the underlying cause of all the trouble.

There lay a masterpiece of art.
A huge heart had been drawn on the top of the desk, with anchors and chains dangling from it and around it. Doves and pre-historic curly-ques upheld the heart. In the center of the heart and in large capital letters were inscribed these names: ROBERT C. "BULL" FRINK and ROSE MARIE MASHEK.

The student really didn't get much sense out of your explanation of the Lombrosos theory, Dr.
Sullenger, because of an uncontrollable fit of inner laughter; but it is certain the Mr. Robert did.

Buggies Taboo

Coeds at Oberlin College are refused permission to go buggy riding. According to the dean of women, several reasons make such a rule advisable, including waste of time, danger of a buggy in an automobile world and the conspicuousness of a coed in a buggy.

A Laceless Football

Coach Al McCoy of Northwestern University is the proud father of a new brain child, a laceless football. He also claims to have introduced the laceless basketball, the knee length stocking that does not roll, slip or wrinkle, and the first all-silk football uniforms in New England. The new ball, which conforms to regulations, has a rubber valve on one end and a rubber counter-balance in the other.

In a recent popularity contest at Texas Christian university, brunettes held a decided lead over the blondes. The red-heads were the least popular girls. Maybe it was because there were so few of them.

French Club Plans Christmas Party

A Christmas party will be given by the French Club Wednesday, December 18, at 4 P. M. in the Women's faculty building.

Evelyn Dansky, '39, is the program chairman. Betty Minter, '38, is in charge of the games. Ruth Ward, '38, and Norma Jean Warwick, '39, have charge of the music.

Those attending the party are asked to bring an inexpensive gift and turn in their acceptance to either Miss Kluckaide or Muriel Byrn, '38, as soon as possible.

Johnson Studies English Classes

Mrs. Leslie M. Johnson, English instructor, has distributed an English efficiency questionnaire to students in her classes. The questionnaire includes ten groups of questions relating to study habits and English practices.

The questionnaire includes such questions as, "Am I going to school, or am I merely sent by my parents? Have I any real purpose in giving myself an education? Am I taking English because I see its value in life, or am I filling requirements for other courses?"

Install Amplifier After Christmas

Bids have been submitted to the Student Council for the installation of a recording amplifier. This machine will be used for school dances to be held in Jacobs' Hall.

Various machines will be brought here immediately following the Christmas holidays. These amplifiers will be on exhibition, and the one that is the best and the most economical will be purchased.

The object is to get one that will present regular fifteen-minute recorded programs, similar to the ones that are used over the radio.

The amplifier will be installed as soon as possible, after the Christmas holidays, and Friday night dances will be held when there are not other dances scheduled.

Kenneth Turner, president of the Student Council, is in charge of this project.

Science Academy To Finish Plans

Miss Nell Ward, associate professor of chemistry and president of the high school section of the Nebraska Academy of Science, has called a meeting of three representatives from the science faculty of each of the five Omaha high schools, to complete plans formulated last spring, next Thursday evening, December 19, in Room 3 at 7:30 o'clock.

The Junior Academy of Science in Nebraska was initiated by six Omaha University students, sponsored by Miss Ward.

The program for the Junior Academy will be held jointly with the Senior Academy and will consist of special lectures of interest to high school students and of competitive exhibits presented by the students themselves.

Spirit of Confidence Reigns On Coach Baker's Cage Court

John Baker is a name that would probably set a thousand football addicts to talking profoundly upon that young man's exploits on and off the gridiron; but to mention it among basketball's immortals would seldom cause a ripple. However, the students and team members at Omaha University know that it won't be long until Mr. Baker will also be known as a "follow-through" to the basketball success that has followed this school since its beginning.

Mr. Baker, or Johnny, relates that he played four years of high school basketball at Kingsley, California, but wasn't good enough to make the varsity at his alma mater, Southern California, but this fact doesn't detract anything from his popularity here. There are many cases of non-player coaches who have been successful in larger schools. If hard work and tireless effort to whip a green varsity into shape are any criteria, then Johnny most assuredly deserves praise.

There isn't any "big three" to carry on and to help matters in the strong North-Central Conference this year, but the coach isn't worrying. All that he desires and we'll bet that he gets his desire, is five boys who play together and who will uphold the honors that have been given to the teams before them.

Mr. Baker doesn't claim to be a wizard, but there is no one who can say that he lacks confidence in himself and the squad and that is at least good for one cheer. If you don't think he means it, we dare you to contradict him!

Before Mr. Baker was added to the University's coaching staff, there was only one man to handle all the sport activities, namely, Sed Hartman. The state schools have at least two or three coaches, and the larger North Central institutions have four or five, and one member has seven. When this is understood, then coaches like Mr. Hartman and Johnny Baker, who seldom have a breathing spell, can really be appreciated.

Among the interesting letters of the week was one received by Miss Ruth Diamond from Virginia Harkins Ohlander, ex '38, who is now living on Saint George Island near Alaska.

Miss Diamond was informed that if she answered the letter promptly Mrs. Ohlander would receive the letter some time in February.

Smiling is contagious; why not be a germ carrier and infect the community.

Debate Pro, Con Of Greek Groups On Omaha Campus

"Resolved, That No Fraternity or Sorority Should Be Permitted on the Municipal University of Omaha Campus Unless It Possesses Permanent Quarters," is the subject which is to be debated in the intra-mural tournament which will be held at the University after the Christmas holidays.

Approximately fourteen teams will participate in the tournament. The organizations which have signified their intention of entering teams are: Alpha Sigma Lambda, Pi Omega Pi, Theta Phi Delta, Alpha Gamma Chi, Sigma Chi Omicron, and the Barbs, who will be represented by four teams. The organizations themselves will appoint the debaters. Anyone not on the University debate squad is eligible to enter.

There will be three judges for each debate, who will be chosen from the faculty and the University debate squad.

for many of the varsity points. He played most of the session at the center post, and is expected to account for many of the Cardinal points at Wayne tonight.

Johnnie Kozak has been outstanding throughout the week, and will probably get the call at forward with Bill Nelson. Carl Baade will jump center, and Melvin Boldenow and Leo Pearey will most likely start at guard positions.

The first home game will be played next Friday at the Central High school gymnasium. Wayne will again be Omaha's opponent.

MONEY REFUNDED

A refund was made to those who purchased tickets to the Roland Hayes, negro tenor, program which was to have been held at Technical High school Friday, December 6. The singer refused to appear because he had not been paid in advance.

The proof of the cigarette is in the smoking . . . and it always will be

Smokers—both men and women—want a cigarette to be mild—yet not flat or insipid. At the same time they want a cigarette that gives them taste—taste they can enjoy.

Chesterfields are outstanding for mildness—outstanding for better taste. You can find that out by smoking them.

Just try them - Chesterfields are what they say they are
